

Do not remove the restrictions on the Do Not Call List. It has brought peace to meal time, and much uninterrupted sleep. Because of ill, elderly parents, I do not have the luxury to NOT answer the phone. Working shift work, it is a gross inconvenience to answer the phone at all hours. If I am interested in a product or service I will call and request it. If something is mailed I am happy to review it and call if I am interested. Calling on the phone is a terrible invasion on my time. I have also found some of these people to be rude and offensive. They have called back multiple times to harass me. They do not have identifiable call back numbers, so it is difficult to lodge complaints.
